Art Unit: 2635

1. This Office action is in response to the application filed January 14, 2002. Claims 1-16 are pending.

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 5-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Regarding claims 5-6, in claim 1 the tag housing is press fit into the recess of the drill string. It is not possible for the plug to also surround and encapsulate the same tag housing.

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 1-2, 6-11, and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Savage 5,202,680.

Regarding claim 1, Savage teaches a tag within a plastic plug that is press fit into a recess of a drill pipe. Thus, the claimed housing with proximal and distal surface is taught. The tag contains an electronic circuit and an antenna. Inherent in the teaching is an antenna lead to connect the electronics with the tag antenna. Although the position of the antenna in relation to the electronics is not shown, it would have been obvious to place the electronics in the rear of the cavity for protection and to place the antenna near the opening to facilitate the transmission of signals. As shown in figure 3, material protects the tag from the elements which is the equivalent of the plug.

Regarding claim 2, Savage uses plastic as a housing material. Plastic has a low Young's modulus.

Regarding claims 6-7, the plug in Savage is plastic which is an electromagnetically conductive material. If the plug were not electromagnetically conductive, it would not be possible to communicate with the tag.

Regarding claim 8, while not expressly taught, it would have been obvious to use a material with a low dielectric constant to improve signal transmission.

Regarding claims 10-11, patch and coil antennas are conventional antennas for rfid tags. It would have been obvious to use any suitable antenna. A patch antenna is simple while a coil antenna has better range of coverage.

Regarding claim 16, a cavity must exist for the housing to contain the tag electronics. Thus, it would have been obvious to include such a limitation.

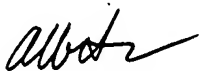

6. Claims 3-4 and 12-15 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
